Frank DelloRusso, Esq. is the Managing Partner of the firm's construction defect and product liability department. Mr. DelloRusso has extensive experience in both state and federal courts and focuses on all aspects of construction defect, product liability, general liability, and commercial litigation.

Mr. DelloRusso is well versed in handling complex multi-party litigation. Mr. DelloRusso defends general contractors, developers, subcontractors, manufacturers, suppliers and design professionals in complex construction defect litigation, and products liability cases in civil, federal and arbitration venues. His construction practice has involved residential and commercial projects ranging in value from $10,000 to $30 million.

He has vast experience in general commercial litigation and business matters, including contracts law. His experience, in a number of related areas, combined with his thorough and meticulous approach to each and every client's needs, make him a knowledgeable and steadfast advocate and counselor that his clients find not only beneficial, but also essential.

Mr. DelloRusso graduated from the University of Tampa (magna cum laude) with a degree in Criminology and Philosophy in 2011. Mr. DelloRusso earned his Juris Doctorate from St. Thomas University School of Law (magna cum laude) in 2014. While in law school, Frank was the Vice President of the Federal Bar Association of St. Thomas University Student Division, a member of the Peter T. Fay American Inn of Court, and a member of the Rosemary Barkett Inn of Court. He also was a Research Assistant for Dean John F. Hernandez and an Active Learning Instructor for Property.
